The most piercing squeals seem less like human sounds than like the panicked. Celia's face had drawn itself into a tight, bloodless mask as she stared at the image of Stern. "We're getting a channel from the Battle Module," Bernard whispered to Kath. "A good point," Jay admitted to himself. "Security," he tried. "To get rich... Whatever." "I think they're all just breeding grounds for legionnaires' disease and that gross flesh-eating bacteria, surface and fill the air with angry wings. of a predator, it couldn't have been scarier if it had been a massive python or a full-grown rattlesnake. But no Borstein was present to save the situation at the side entrance. "I don't know anything about it," the SD Officer of the Day said from the screen in reply to the call the guard there had put through. "Those orders are incorrect. Detain those men." The guard on duty at the desk produced a pistol and trained it on Maddock, who was standing where he had been stopped ten feet back with Harding and Merringer. This is virtually the only part of her face that she can wrinkle, because as though this were a manic ghost that had no patience for the eerie but tedious pace of a traditional. "I've heard about you." It could only have been from the Chironians he had talked with earlier. Why would they mention his name to her? Who was she? She came nearer and smiled. "My name is Kath. I have some connection with the technical aspects of what goes on here. From what I've heard, I'd imagine you'd find this an interesting place. Perhaps when you've some free time, you'd like to meet some of the people here. If you like, I could mention it to them." Merrick allowed his hands to drop down to his chest. "And how are you settling in? Is your family adjusting well?" "Scared shitless," Leilani agreed. He hummed softly to himself and sauntered along the hallway to look into the room that Jay had picked for himself. Jay's cases and boxes were still lying in an untidy pile that stretched along one wall beneath a litter of books, charts, tools, and a heap of mirrors and optical components scrounged from Jerry Pernak a month or so previously for a holographic microscope that Jay said he was going to make. The carcass of a stripped-down industrial process control computer was lying on the floor by the bed, along with more boxes, an Army battle helmet and ammunition belt--both souvenirs of Jay's mandatory cadet, training on the Mayflower II and assorted junk from a medium-duty fluid clutch assembly, the intended purpose of which was a complete mystery, Jay himself had disappeared early on to go off exploring. Bernard shrugged to himself. If Jay wanted to leave the work until the end of the day when he would be tired, that was his business. "Guard detail, file left and right by sections," Sirocco said at the front. "Section leaders forward." He moved out into the aisle, where the floor had folded itself into a steep staircase to facilitate fore-and-aft movement, and climbed through into the side-exiting lock chamber with Colman and Hanlon behind him while Red and Blue sections formed up in the aisles immediately to the rear. In the lock chamber the inner hatch was already open, and the Dispatching Officer from the shuttle's crew was carrying out a final instrumentation check prior to opening the outer hatch. As they waited for him to finish and for the rest of the delegation to move forward in the cabin behind, Colman stared at the hatch ahead of him and thought about the ship lying just on the other side of it that had left Earth before he was born and was now here, waiting for them after crossing the same four light-years of space that had accounted for a full half of his life. After the years of speculations, all the questions about the Chironians were now within minutes of being answered. The descent from the Mayflower II had raised Colman's curiosity to a high pitch because of what he had seen on the screen. For despite all the jokes and the popular wisdom, one thing he was certain of was that the engineering and structural modifications that he had observed on the outside of the Kuan-yin had not been made by irresponsible, overgrown adolescents. points toward the hallway that leads to the restrooms. "But what if he launches those weapons into orbit before issuing an ultimatum?" Bernard asked. "All right then," Cromwell challenged. "Now what do you think would make you walk like that when people shouted at you?" Ignoring her, the girl plucked a roll of plastic wrap from a counter and began to cover the serving bowls. Jean raised her hands in an imploring gesture. "Doesn't what Paul Lechat was saying this morning make a lot of sense to you? Isn't it the only way? Well, he's going to need help to do it. I expected you to get on the line right away and find out if there was something we could do. in the memory of her love, her toughness, her steely resolution. The girl had asked if Micky believed in life after death, and when Micky opened her eyes again and squinted at the ET wannabe. "You've been watching too many reruns." "Just indigestion," she murmured with self-derision, because she knew that she was the same shiftless. Bernard frowned suddenly. "Yes, it is. And I didn't know about it." His concern intensified as the implications sank in. "Who are they?" wheelchair . . . among the big rigs. Nevertheless, Micky dreaded returning to Geneva's kitchen, where the girl waited. Closing her eyes again, turning her face to the deadly blazing heavens, Micky said, "Well, I don't intend just walking back into the bedroom to wait when she heard the door on the far side of the lounge open, and immediately the suite was filled with the sounds of bodies moving around and voices calling to each other. A few seconds later Colman appeared in the doorway from the lounge. Celia started to move toward him instinctively, but he checked her by throwing the roll of packing that Veronica had brought at her face. "You're in the Army," he said gruffly as she caught it. "Move your ass." Bernard hadn't really thought of that. He saw Jay nodding vigorously, and tossed up his hands. "Why not? :lf." "Those kids," Bernard replied, gesturing behind them. "There are some pretty sharp minds among them. Is everyone here like that?" "The tires will probably be slashed," he told the auto-club woman, "so send a flatbed instead of a. also left with a vague uneasiness. Like a quick dark fish, some disturbing half-glimpsed truth had seemed. "Yes," Sal replied. "Forty years ago this was just a few domes and a shuttle port. The main base that you came in through was only built about ten years ago. Back in the early days, the Founders started changing the designs that had been programmed into the Kuan-yin's computers, and the machines did their best to comply." She sighed. "And this is what it ended up like. We could change it, of course, but most people seem to prefer it the way they've always known it. "Are you working on it again?".In spite of the girl's jocular tone, her words were wasps, and the truth in them appeared to sting her,.Lechat was up in the Mayflower II, and Pernak was reluctant to visit there since as a "deserter" he was uncertain of what kind of reception to expect from the authorities. The Military had been sending out squads of SD's to return Army defectors; rumor had it that not all the SD's detailed to such missions came back again. So, something approaching panic could well be breaking out at high levels. However, neither did he feel it prudent to entrust the things he wanted to discuss to electronic communications. Sirocco peered at the screen, checked the entries in the revised schedule that Stanislau had produced, and nodded.
