"This is private,," he murmured in a voice that was low but menacing. "Beat it." "Yeah, well, she's a mouse." Leilani appeared to be surprised. "Don't you read newspapers?" "Wining, dining, and conspiring--no doubt until the early hours." "There won't be a war on Chiron, will there?" Marie asked. "We're not negotiating, Sherlock." Geneva's voice wavered on God and broke on fool: "Oh, God, what a blind stupid worthless fool I. Colman thought about the briefings he had attended recently on the offensive tactics for seizing key points on the surface of Chiron in the event of hostilities, and the intensive training in antiterrorist and counterterrorist operations that had been initiated. The speech reminded him of the old-time slave ships which arrived carrying messages of brotherhood and love, but with plenty of gunpowder kept ready and dry below decks. Was it possible for people to be conditioned to the point that they believe they are doing one thing when in reality they are doing the exact opposite, and to be blind to the contradiction? He wondered what the Directorate might have found out about Chiron that it wasn't making public. "You sure? The sky goes away in the dark, and everything gets so big. Jay looked worried, and Bernard appalled. "You can't let people take the law into their own hands like that," Bernard insisted. "Unchecked violence--mob rule--God alone-- knows what else. It's plain uncivilized--barbaric. You're going to have to change the system sooner or later." "I'm not sure I believe in life before death," Micky said. "Stop," Micky said, dismayed to hear the word come out with a harsh edge. Then more softly: "Just. point where a group of people apparently waits for them on the embankment approximately due south of. sinuous whipping adversary nailed loose. properly admired. The Chironians would watch and wait until Only the lunatic core was left, stripped bare of its innocent protectors. Eventually only two kinds would be left: There would be Chironians, and there would be Kalenses And Colman no longer had any doubts as to which he would be. "Really thirsty--so your tongue feels like wire wool and swells up in your mouth, and your skin starts cracking." scaly ringlets under the window. Evil-looking head raised. Alert. With an effort, the SD major bared his teeth and stretched his lips back almost to his ears. "Excuse me, sir, ' but do you have a few minutes you could spare?" the tail. She knew that snakehandlers always gripped immediately under the head to immobilize the jaws, them. Are we, Micky?" gazing at the starry sky. She seemed to be a young girl dreamily fantasizing about true romance or filled. "When did you see a shoddy piece of workmanship on Chiron a door that didn't fit, or a motor that wouldn't start?" Eve asked him. "Have you ever come across anything like that anywhere there? It makes what we're used to look like junk. I was at a trade show yesterday that some of our companies put on in Franklin to do some market research. The Chironians thought it was a joke. You should have seen the kids down there. They thought our ideas of design and manufacturing were hilarious. Our guys had to give it up as a dead loss." memory for names. her mouth and bake her for tomorrow's dinner- although they didn't express their concern in terms quite. agrees with his assessment of the fundamental requirement of a boy-dog friendship. Earlier, the congressman had admired Karla's "nasty mouth." Now he proved that he himself could not. Jay glanced at Colman, then looked at Bernard. A new light was creeping into Bernard's eyes as the implications of what Kath had said began to sink in. Jay hesitated, then decided that his father was in the fight mood. "You know, this is a bit of a risky place, Dad," he said in an ominous voice. "People getting shot all over the place and stuff like that. I could run into all kinds of trouble on my own. I'm sure you'd feel a lot happier if I had some professional protection." "But suppose different people have different ideas about it," Colman persisted. the eve of her birthday would violate Preston's code of ethics, and he was as serious about his ethics as. Old Yeller here to take a chunk of meat out of anyone who might try to do you wrong." With all public bars having been put off-limits to the Mayflower Ifs soldiers after the shooting, the party couldn't have come at a better time, Colman reflected as he leaned against the bar and nursed his glass while gazing around the room. Swyley and Stanislaw were behind him in a corner with a mixed group of Chironians and seemed interested in the planet's travel facilities; Sirocco was with another group in the center of the room discussing the war news with another group, and Maddock, looking slightly disheveled, was sprawled along a couch in an alcove on the far side with his arm draped around Wendy, another girl from the Mayflower II, who seemed to be asleep. It was especially nice to get away from the political row that had been splitting the Mission into factions ever since the morning after the shooting. Kalens wanted to impose Terran law on Franklin, Lechat wanted everybody to move to Iberia, somebody called Ramisson wanted to disband Congress and phase into the Chironian population, and somewhere in the middle Wellesley was trying to steer a course between all of them. At one extreme some people were ignoring the directive to remain in the Canaveral area and moving out, while at the other some were supporting Kalens by staging anti-Chironian demonstrations with demands for a get-tough policy. Padawski and the group who had been with him at The Two Moons, including Anita, were being confined to the military base at Canaveral pending a hearing of the charges of disobeying orders and disorderly conduct. In addition Ramelly had been charged with assault, and Padawski with failing to uphold discipline among members of his unit as well as with publicly issuing threats. The threats were the main reason for Padawski's group being confined to base, since some politicians were worried about possible reactions from the Chironians if they were allowed out and about. Colman couldn't see any risk of retaliation, since none of the Chironians that he had talked to attached any great significance to the incident. He only wished more of the politicians would see things the same way instead of blowing the incident out of proportion to suit their own ends. If they had stayed out of the situation and left the Army to deal with its own people in its own way, the whole thing would probably have been forgotten already, he thought to himself. "Oh, in that case it just has to be true, doesn't it. Now tell me that Swyley's color-blind." If the snake had struck her face, it might have bitten her eye. It might have left her half blind. lone defender of the castle, ceaselessly prowling the ramparts, at war with the world. But a constant state. membranes of this world and. Another pair of boots follows the first. Two men, not just one. Neither talks, both move purposefully. Over at the table where Celia and Jean were sitting, Marie, who had been listening silently without understanding a lot of what was being said, looked up inquiringly at her mother. Jean smiled and squeezed her hand reassuringly. "Veronica made it!" Jean exclaimed delightedly. "Steve, I don't know how you handled it all." toward Geneva's. She resisted the urge. She knew they were still watching her, but a cheery wave. Strangely, it was this very grasp that he was beginning to acquire of the Chironians' dedication to life that troubled Pernak. It troubled him because the more he discovered of their history and their ways, the more he came to understand how tenaciously and ferociously they would defend their freedom to express that dedication. They defended it individually, and he was unable to imagine that they would not defend it with just as much determination collectively. They had known for well over twenty years that the Mayflower ii was coming, and beneath their casual geniality they were anything but a passive, submissive race who would trust their future to chance and the better nature of others. They were realists, and Pernak was convinced that they would have prepared themselves to meet the worst that the situation might entail. Although nobody had ever mentioned weapons to him, from what he was beginning to see of Chironian sciences, their means of meeting the worst could well be very potent indeed. surefooted dog at once adapts to this abrupt change in the terrain, but because Curtis is not fully attuned. and clumped toward the closet, which regrettably put the bed between her and the snake. She was. "People don't worry about being replaced by a chip?" "It's this whole business of not paying for anything," Stanislaw said at last. "We come in here and drink, we go into restaurants and eat, we walk out of stores with all kinds of stuff, and none of it costs anything." He sat back, looked from side to side for moral support, got plenty, and shook his head helplessly. "It seemed too good to be true at first, but that soon wears off. It's not funny anymore, chief.
